SACRAMENTO OFFICE | 916.646.1400 Ext. 226 lcorr@mycharterlaw.com

Lisa Corr has represented charter schools for over eighteen years. Her primary focus has been in special education and the representation of charter schools in due process matters and in defense of Office of Civil Rights and California Department of Education complaints. Lisa also assists charter schools in day to day special education compliance, and negotiating agreements with special education providers and authorizers.

Lisa's legal representation also focuses on the developmental phase of charter schools, including assisting charter developers through the development of legally compliant charter petitions, successfully managing the charter authorization process and negotiating legal and fiscal agreements between charter schools and authorizers. Lisa assists charter school boards to develop effective and efficient governance practices, including assistance with strategic planning, legal compliance, and policy development. One of Lisa's unique practice areas is non-classroom based (independent study) charter school legal compliance.

Lisa has studied the often complicated intersection of independent study law and charter school law throughout the evolution of the Charter Schools Act, assisting charter schools in understanding both the technical legal rules and the best practices for implementation. Lisa also assists charter schools in the development and implementation of admissions policies and practice. Lastly, Lisa assists in general student services issues (e.g. student discipline, interpretation of child-custody agreements, and control of disruptive visitors on campus).

Independent Study for Quarantined Students

Independent study is authorized for a pupil who is unable to attend in-person instruction due to a quarantine due to exposure to, or infection with, COVID-19, pursuant to local or state public health guidance.

For the 2021-22 school year, a classroombased charter school that provides IS for quarantined pupils shall not attribute quarantine-based independent study ADA toward the percentage of ADA which would recharacterize the school as a nonclassroombased charter school and thus shall not be required to submit a request for a funding determination as a result of providing independent study to quarantined pupils.

YM&C

Independent Study for Quarantined Students

The Good:

- · There had been some concern at the State level that quarantined students could not participate in independent study because there is no "classroom option" available.
- Quarantine ADA does not turn a classroom-based charter school to a nonclassroom based charter school.

The Bad: In exchange for this clarification, an LEA is unable to file a J13 for emergency apportionment due to a material decrease in attendance due to student quarantines.

The Questionable: If a student is quarantined and on independent study and misses assignments and/or fails to make satisfactory educational progress, an evaluation is required to determine whether it is in the best interest of the pupil to remain in independent study. What if the answer is no?

YM&C Tiered Reengagement Strategies The Good: The one school day notice is triggered by the recording of a non-attendance day or lack of participation instead of triggered by the non-attendance itself. The Bad: By requiring tiered reengagement strategies as a result of lack of participation in synchronous instruction, the concept of an "opportunity" seems more like a mandate. And requiring tiered reengagement strategies as a result of a lack of participation feels like a penalty. Questionable: Who is the individual in your organization who will tracking which pupils require tiered reengagement strategies? What does it mean to "violate the agreement"? How will you track documentation of implementation of the strategies? What does "scheduled days" of synchronous instruction mean? YM&C

- Education Code Section 41422: Protection for LEA's unable to offer the minimum instructional days due to COVID-related staffing shortages, after consultation with the County Office of Education and Superintendent of Public Instruction that all alternative staffing options have been exhausted.
- Education Code Section 46392-46393: Allows an LEA to apply for emergency apportionment protection (J-13) for charter school closures related to staffing shortages related to COVID-19 under specified conditions which includes consultation with the county office of education and the Superintendent of Public Instruction and exhaustion of all options for obtaining staff coverage.

- Removes emergency protections for other COVID related closures or material loss of ADA (including quarantine) (with exceptions for students with exceptional needs whose IEP does not provide for independent study).
- An affidavit seeking emergency apportionment requires a plan for independent study within 10 days of the first day of school closure or material decrease in attendance.
- Special education students receive the services in their IEP established under SB 98 (under the emergency circumstances provisions where in-person instruction or services, or both, cannot be provided to the pupil either at the school or in person for more than 10 school days.)

Takeaways and Random Thoughts · If you want apportionment for quarantined students, independent study is the only option. You will likely want to do a short update of your IS policy to reflect the updated tiered reengagement strategies and to cover the possibility of using independent study in conjunction with an affidavit for emergency apportionment. • The timeline for fully executed written independent study agreements has been extended. These agreements must align with the board policy. YM&C Takeaways and Random Thoughts • If anything, the "clean up" triggers more documentation not less - now requiring documentation of "nonparticipation" in opportunities for synchronous instruction and live interaction and using that documentation to trigger tiered reengagement strategies. Highly recommend working with counsel but even more importantly your auditor as to your plan for documentation of independent study. YM&C Takeaways and Random Thoughts · Course-based independent study might be an attractive option for consideration, particularly at the middle and high school levels. o Lighter tiered reengagement requirements o Far simpler attendance accounting based upon satisfactory progress and student meeting course requirements. o More paperwork up front and less on the back-end.

o Proctored assessments required.
